The Google Business Profile Checklist

Everything your profile needs to win the map pack and turn searches into booked jobs. Audit yours in about 30 minutes.

From Kemar Lawrence, Co-Founder of CSRA Marketing

Why this checklist exists

Your Google Business Profile is the first thing most homeowners see when they search for a roofer. Before they ever visit your website, they see your profile: your reviews, your photos, your hours, your phone number.

I have audited dozens of roofing company profiles, and I keep seeing the same gaps. Half-filled profiles. Three photos from 2019. Reviews nobody ever answered. Each gap costs calls, and most owners have no idea.

This checklist covers every section that matters. Work through it top to bottom, check off what is done, and you will know exactly where your profile stands and what to fix first.

> How to use this: Print it or keep it open on a second screen. Open your Google Business Profile as you go. Check each box only when it is truly done, not "close enough." The items are ordered by impact, so start at the top.

1 Profile Setup

- [ ] Business name matches your real, legal business name

  Why it matters: Google penalizes stuffed names like "Best Roofing Dallas TX." A real name builds trust with homeowners and keeps you safe from suspensions.

- [ ] Primary category set to "Roofing contractor"

  Why it matters: Your primary category is the strongest signal for which searches you appear in. The wrong category means you are invisible for the searches that matter.

- [ ] Secondary categories added (roof repair, gutter service, etc.)

  Why it matters: Each relevant category opens the door to more search terms. If you do gutters but never say so, Google will not show you for gutter searches.

- [ ] Service areas listed, not just your street address

  Why it matters: Most roofers serve a radius, not a storefront. Listing your service areas tells Google every town you are willing to travel to.

- [ ] Hours are accurate, including holiday hours

  Why it matters: Google shows "Open now" prominently. Wrong hours mean missed calls, and a homeowner who drives to a closed business does not call back.

- [ ] Phone number is local and answered during business hours

  Why it matters: Most roofing inquiries start as phone calls. Every call that goes to voicemail during business hours is a job going to a competitor.

- [ ] Website URL points to your homepage and works

  Why it matters: Your profile and your website vouch for each other. A broken or missing link weakens trust in both.

- [ ] Business description written (plain language, no keyword stuffing)

  Why it matters: This is your elevator pitch inside search results. It should sell the call, not read like a robot wrote it.

2 Photos and Videos

- [ ] Logo uploaded and displaying correctly

  Why it matters: It is the first visual brand signal on your profile. A profile with no logo looks unfinished next to competitors that have one.

- [ ] Cover photo shows real work (crew on a roof, finished job)

  Why it matters: The cover photo dominates your profile. Real job photos sell; stock photos get ignored.

- [ ] At least 15 to 20 real photos uploaded

  Why it matters: Profiles with strong photo galleries get far more calls and direction requests than bare ones. Homeowners browse photos before they read a word.

- [ ] Before and after job photos included

  Why it matters: Homeowners buy proof. Before and after shots are the closest thing to a portfolio inside search results.

- [ ] Team and truck photos included

  Why it matters: People hire people. Showing your crew and your trucks builds trust before the first call ever happens.

- [ ] New photos added at least monthly

  Why it matters: Fresh photos signal an active, thriving business. A gallery that stops in 2022 makes homeowners wonder if you are still operating.

- [ ] At least one short video uploaded (job site or quick intro)

  Why it matters: Video holds attention longer than photos, and most competitors never bother. It is an easy edge.

3 Reviews

- [ ] Short review link created and saved where your team can find it

  Why it matters: If leaving a review takes more than ten seconds, it will not happen. A one-tap link removes every excuse.

- [ ] Asking every happy customer, every time (a real system, not "when we remember")

  Why it matters: Review volume is one of the strongest ranking signals in the map pack. The roofer with 120 reviews beats the roofer with 12, all else equal.

- [ ] Responding to every review, positive and negative

  Why it matters: Responses show future customers you care, and they show Google the profile is actively managed. Silence looks like indifference.

- [ ] Negative reviews answered professionally within 48 hours

  Why it matters: An unanswered bad review scares off more customers than the review itself. A calm, professional response can actually build trust.

- [ ] Recent reviews (at least a few in the last 90 days)

  Why it matters: Homeowners check dates. A profile whose newest review is eight months old raises the same "are they still in business" doubt as stale photos.

4 Posts and Updates

- [ ] Posting at least twice a month

  Why it matters: Posts keep your profile fresh and give homeowners something current to engage with beyond the basics.

- [ ] Completed jobs posted with photos

  Why it matters: Every finished job is proof. Posting them turns your profile into a living portfolio that sells while you sleep.

- [ ] Seasonal posts (storm season prep, winter maintenance)

  Why it matters: Timely posts catch homeowners at the exact moment they are thinking about their roof.

- [ ] Current offers or promotions posted when running

  Why it matters: A visible offer gives price shoppers a reason to call you first instead of collecting three more quotes.

5 Q and A Section

- [ ] Common questions pre-answered (pricing approach, service area, timeline)

  Why it matters: Anyone can answer questions on your profile, including competitors. If you do not answer first, someone else will.

- [ ] Checking for new questions at least weekly

  Why it matters: New questions sit public until answered. A quick response shows you are attentive; silence suggests otherwise.

- [ ] No question left unanswered longer than a week

  Why it matters: Stale, unanswered questions signal an inactive business to both homeowners and Google.

6 Products and Services

- [ ] Every service listed individually (replacement, repair, gutters, inspections)

  Why it matters: Each listed service is another way to match what someone searches for. A single "roofing" entry leaves searches on the table.

- [ ] Service descriptions written in plain homeowner language

  Why it matters: Your customer does not know industry terms. Plain language converts; jargon confuses.

- [ ] Products added where relevant (shingle brands, gutter guards)

  Why it matters: Homeowners search for brand names too. Listing the products you install captures those searches.

Checked fewer than half? Your profile is costing you calls.

Most roofing companies I audit are missing at least a third of this list, and every gap is a reason for a homeowner to call the next roofer instead.

If you want a professional set of eyes on it, I offer a free online presence audit where I go through your profile, your website, and your rankings personally and tell you exactly what to fix first.
